

Technotrash Can™

Introducing an easy, convenient way to securely dispose of your electronic waste

In the next five years, consumers in the United States will generate a technology waste stream that includes:

- 500 million obsolete PCs
- 750 million used cell phones
- 1.5 billion empty inkjet cartridges
- 10+ billion old disks and CDs
- And lots of things we cannot even begin to count

Now recycling the obsolete supplies and accessories associated with technology is easy and secure. You no longer have to spend your valuable time sorting through your diskettes or CDs worrying about what private or sensitive information is on them. No need to organize the disposal of ink cartridges, cell phones or batteries. The GreenDisk Technotrash Can is a compact collection box that you can conveniently place in locations around your site. When the can is full, you just notify us online. The box is picked up and your technotrash materials are securely recycled.

What is a Technotrash Can?

The GreenDisk Technotrash Can is a collection box specially made for easy disposal and of a variety new waste stream items we have not had to deal with before. It is designed to conveniently fit into your office environment while conforming to US Postal Service mail standards. The Technotrash Can holds up to 70 lbs of mixed electronic waste but uses just one square foot of your floor space.

The GreenDisk advantage. The GreenDisk Technotrash Can provides you with:

- Secure destruction and full accountability. All electronically stored information is destroyed and the related materials are recycled - with a fully documented audit for accountability.
- Time savings. Instead of sorting through your trash, your employees can focus on their jobs and your organization's primary mission.
- Creation of new jobs. GreenDisk partners with a network of nonprofit workshops that employ people with disabilities fully focused on this.

The process is easy for you. Order your GreenDisk Technotrash Can online. GreenDisk then ships out your Can with prepaid postage and a unique barcode ID. Once the box is filled and sealed, you just notify GreenDisk online. The Can is then picked up and received at the appropriate GreenDisk facility for secure processing and recycling. All intellectual property is securely destroyed with each material type consolidated and shipped to the appropriate recycler. The last step is electronic receipt of your certified audit report.

What is technotrash? Technotrash is all of those various spent supplies and obsolete accessories associated with the technology that we all now have to deal with on a daily basis including:

- CDs, diskettes, audio and video tapes
- Old cell phones, pagers, and PDAs
- Rechargeable batteries
- Inkjet, laser printer and fax cartridges

GreenDisk collects and consolidates technotrash, securely destroys all intellectual property, recycles the materials and reports the process back to you.
